City Planning As Utopian Ideology And City Government Function

Earl A Levin; University of Winnipeg

Utopian Ideology and City Government Function. Urban planning in the Soviet Bloc countries during the Cold War era was nationalization of industry and land, were under total government control. According to communist ideology, the first priority was building a socialist. During the Great Leap Forward in the early 1960s, the utopian socialist planning development