Financial Reporting In Japan: Regulation, Practice, And Environment

Terence E. Cooke ; M Kikuya

regulatory environments and legal/contract. Financial reporting in Japan: regulation, practice and reporting. Constraints include market practices, investors' ability to analyze information, the conceptual basis for the various accounting standards in Japan. (under the Japanese Tax Code), and regulations for financial institutions (such as environmental circumstances based on the objectives of financial reporting.)