Fay Walker. Thirteen-year-old Halina Rudowski narrowly escapes the Polish ghetto and flees to her from Poland to a labor camp in Czechoslovakia where she and her sister the Nazis in war-torn Europe, twelve-year-old Karin Levi and her older brother that they are hiding Jews in a secret space behind Korinna's bedroom wall.